

Welcome to Josh's Blog!

My Thoughts on Code Commenting...

One of my favorite hobbies is CODING!

Sometimes coding comments can be very tedious and annoying... However, they are very important for documentation! I once read from a Catholic book, Holiness for Everyone from Eric Sammons on the spirituality of St. Josemaria Escriva. It speaks about doing the jobs that no one else notices. Sometimes we become tempted to let simple work slide since it will go unnoticed anyways. However, Sammons explains his experience as a computer programmer. Commenting is essential to coding because it “might eventually guide another programmer making changes to my software.” (Holiness for Everyone, Sammons). Commenting not only strengthens your code, but also makes you more of a hard worker. Commenting teaches you that God desires we do everything, whether it is a simple or grand task, be done with “enthusiasm and love” (Holiness for Everyone, Sammons).

Anyways, here is an example of a comment in C++:
`//here is an example of a comment in C++!`

My Favorite Saint Augustine of Hippo Quote

Here is one of my favorite quotes from St. Augustine of Hippo:

```
Thou movest us to delight in praising Thee;
for Thou hast formed us for Thyself,
and our hearts are restless till they find rest in Thee.
```

Here is a picture of Saint Augustine because he is a cool guy!

Saint Augustine by Philippe de Champaigne (circa 1645)

© Copyright Fouch

on January 23, 2025 at 16:06